Its head ve- t and its tail and bodv ol lquely North arid South. It was not only large, but it was mammoth in its pro portions and perfection of the destructive appearance of a reptile, its fat and slickness were perfect, and at the same time. This patriot saw an army of True Blues marching ttom West to East, towards the capitol of our country, to restore a fraternal union oi the peo ple, according to the iustice and equity of the constitution. He could not see the end of this army, as it was so long. It was com posed of men aver-aging in the prime of life; they were patriots of the first stamp, they looked so firm and determined, that it seem ed that no earthly power coul d check them in their onward march toward the ca-pitol of the country. That is, towards national su premacy for they were guided and led by all the higher and no bler principles of true patriotism, clothed in. Blue, emblematic of Truth and Power with the symbols and...
