Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Law of Prize as Affected by Decisions Upon Captures Made During the Late War Between Spain and the United States That a vessel cleared or bound to a blockade port shall not be considered as violating in any manner the blockade, unless, on her approach towards such port, she shall have been previously warned not to enter it. Some of the reasons for the historic policy of the United States are thus stated by Wheaton Digest of International Law, vol. lii. Sect. 405, p. 659) The policy. Of the United States is to maintain neutral immunities for the following reasons (r) The probabilities of war are far less with us than with the great European States. From the nature of things, points of friction between the United States and foreign nations are comparatively few. We have an ocean between us and the great armed camps of the Old World and, while there are innumerable questions as to which one European State may come into collision with another, the only points as to which we would be likely to come into collision...
