William Newell: As Pastor of the First Parish in Cambridge, May 19, 1830 The solemn services are ended, by which our young brother has been inducted into the sacred office, and invested with the charge of the spiritual interests of this church and congregation. You, my friends, have a new pastor, and to him is committed for the first time the care of a Christian flock. The connexion thus formed is of a most serious and interesting nature; - serious, from its permanency; for it is a connexion which death alone, or some event no less to be deplored, shall sever; - more serious, from the momentous consequences that may result from the faithful or ill discharge of this holy trust, not only to him and to each one of you, but to the great cause of Christian truth and virtue. It is interesting, from the new relations it involves, and the mutual duties it creates; - interesting to you, who thus intrust to youthful hands...
