T.; N this section I purpose to state the conyK version of two women, whose history affords a terrible insight into the evils and the inveteracy of the drinking habits so widely prevalent among those ranks of society to which this memoir chiefly relates; and which will be found, I trust, to supply a ground of hope even for the most abandoned. We are all ready to denounce drunkenness as the deadliest curse under which our poor and ignorant neighbours groan, and the greatest obstacle to their elevation. But are we as considerate as we ought to be for those peculiar provocatives and incentives to this evil to which they are subject? Do we make due allowances for inherited constitutional tendencies; for early and habitual training; for the force of example; for the exhaustion and stupor produced by physical toil; for...

Reviews

This is the finest publication we have read through right up until now. Better then never, though i am quite late in start reading this one. Its been written in an remarkably easy way in fact it is only after i finished reading through this book by which basically altered me, affect the way i think.
