We are happy to present theese lectures in book form to the Sunday-school world, and in this way to augment their power and enlarge the scope of their usefulness. The distinguished author needs no introduction, being known far and wide as a man of God, as an able minister of the New Testament, and as a workman that needeth not to be ashamed in all the phases of church life and work. The lectures speak for themselves better than any one can speak for them. Incidentally, they uncover in part the life and machinery at work in Calvary Baptist Church, at Washington, D. C. Dr. Greene speaks from the heart, and, naturally enough, draws his illustrations from the life of this great church, in which he has wrought for nearly a quarter of a century as a wise master builder. His Sunday school is a tremendous force and factor; but behind the school, or in it or through it, his church is a mightier force and factor; and yet any comparison may be unjust, for the Sunday school is only the church in lofty service of Bible study and for doing glorious things for God. Calvary Baptist Church has really one of the great Sunday schools of the world--a school which in some respects, no doubt, leads all others. Adjoining the church building is a Sundayschool house three stories high, besides the basement; was built in 1894 at a cost of 100,...
