Createspace, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 279 x 216 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Description The content of this book is very simple. It contains no text at all because I hate the English language. Geometry is the language I understand. The book contains only circles and polygons. I feel that math is a universal language much like music. Sadly, when math is taught in school, people are introduced to a bunch of words which usually have Greek origins. This is definitely true of Geometry. I do not feel that it is something which should be taught in school. The understanding should come naturally. I decided to make this book because as an artist, I found myself printing papers of my own simple shapes. Sadly, the result is a bunch of papers scattered around my bedroom. I wanted this book for my own enjoyment. The idea is to look at the shapes without having to consume electricity or constantly buy new ink for my printer. I believe that there are other people who will also like this book. Even a newborn baby may smile at the sight of it. That is my dream.
