Philip Watson. Paperback. Condition: New. 284 pages. Dimensions: 8.0in. x 5.0in. x 0.7in. Nick Howard is a Private Detective but only just. Hes only in his office on a Saturday morning to close it down. His dream has failed. The only crime hes had to investigate has been adultery. His time as a Private Detective, Private Investigator, Private Eye whatever you want to call it - has come to an end. Then who should turn up to interrupt his sulking Only his ex-wife! And she has a job for him- as a Private Detective. Shes the last person hed expect to be offering him some work. The catch is that its to find her current lover, John Anderson! Will Nick take the job Of course he will he needs the money. Who knows The case could even save his career as a detective. The job leads him back to his last place of work the local water company - RWS. It turns out the Managing Director also requires Nicks services as a Private Eye. She wants to find Anderson as well, but not only has he gone missing, so has Maxine Hudson, the HR director. Have they disappeared together, or is it just a coincidence Why is the MD interested in their disappearance Anderson had been auditing company practices without his bosss knowledge. What was he looking for Nick starts work following Andersons footsteps through the companys business practices. Hes soon making waves, (or is he drowning), in the murky waters of the Companys investment programme. Is what he finds illegal Is it a real crime As he investigates, Nick uncovers two suspicious deaths and finds himself two lovers into the bargain. As he says, clients and lovers are like buses: you wait ages for one and then.
