

ROBBERS A Dan Ballantine Mystery Dan Ballantine Mysteries Book 19

By Mark Travis

Paperback. Condition: New. 239 pages. They should not have robbed Horatio. They should not have come to his camp site after dark wearing black jeans, black hoodies, black ski masks, and tan combat boots. They should not have threatened Horatio and his son with sawed-off shotguns. They should not have stolen their money and stuff. Horatio's motto is: Don't be a victim! He asks his friend, private investigator Dan Ballantine, to help him find the robbers. Though he doubts their chances for success, Ballantine agrees to help and travels to his friend's home in Reno. During their next robbery, one of the robbers kills a popular Ely, Nevada, businessman. Horatio and Dan travel to the small eastern Nevada town, question a few people, and develop a pair of suspects. By the time they can convince a Sheriff's detective to accompany them to the suspects' place of employment, the robbers have abandoned their jobs and left town in a camper truck towing their dual-purpose motorcycles. Horatio and Dan chase the robbers and soon learn of a suspicious incident near the Dacey Reservoir eighty miles south of Ely. They talk to the victim who believes he hit one of the robbers when...

READ ONLINE
[2.64 MB]

Reviews

The book is straightforward in read safer to recognize. This really is for anyone who states there had not been a worthy of looking at. You may like just how the blogger creates this publication.

-- Friedrich Nolan

It is an incredible book which I actually have ever go through. It had been written extremely completely and helpful. You can expect to like the way the blogger publishes this book.

-- Prof. Jerad Lesch