Reviews

This book may be worth buying. I have read and i am confident that i am going to planning to go through once more once again in the future. Its been written in an exceptionally easy way and it is simply soon after i finished reading this publication in which actually altered me, modify the way i believe.

Allen Unwin, New Zealand, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Main. Language: English . Brand New Book. Lance Burdett was in the police force for twenty-two years, in a variety of high-level roles: head of negotiation team; running 111 centre; intelligence management; protection squad and emergency responders. He worked on some of New Zealand s most high profile cases.His daily police life included frequent suicide interventions in high-profile locations, which were common call-outs for the negotiation team. Lance talks about the different negotiation styles and challenges involved.He was involved in Australia/New Zealand anti-terrorism training, and played the role of terrorist over several days on site. His story shows how quickly you can become indoctrinated and hate your enemies . Lance also underwent FBI training in Washington where he found that New Zealand s negotiation skills held up well.My Life as a Police Negotiator tells what it s really like to be a cop: the fear, the stress, the everyday drama, the skills developed, the lives saved, the lives lost. It s gritty, tough and confronting.
