Jem Group Inc., United States, 2010. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .With 20 million sales people and over 4 million sales managers, sales is the second fastest growing job category in the US. Twenty-five percent of all US sales reps are women, yet 90 percent of sales leadership positions are held by men. Why does the ceiling seem to be not just glass, but concrete, for women in the sales function? Despite the facts Fortune 500 companies with the best records of promoting women tend to be the most profitable; those with the highest representation of women on their management team show higher return on equity and total return to shareholders; and those with more women on the board show a higher profit margin women are still scarce in the senior-most ranks of US organizations. Why? Although the research for this book focused on female chief sales executives, the findings apply across all functions. Beyond the glass ceiling question, we discovered that the bigger question is: How do we ensure a strong next generation of women who will be prepared to fill the leadership roles a generation of Baby Boomer women are...

Reviews

The book is fantastic and great. It normally will not cost an excessive amount of I am just easily could possibly get a satisfaction of reading a published ebook.
