Creative Evolution An Alternate Explanation for Darwins Mechanism of Evolution By Henri Bergson Translated by Arthur Mitchell Creative Evolution is a 1907 book by French philosopher Henri Bergson. Its English translation appeared in 1911. The book provides an alternate explanation for Darwins mechanism of evolution, suggesting that evolution is motivated by an elan vital, a vital impetus that can also be understood as humanitys natural creative impulse. The book was very popular in the early decades of the twentieth century, before the Neodarwinian synthesis was developed. The book also develops concepts of time (offered in Bergsons earlier work) which significantly influenced modernist writers and thinkers such as Marcel Proust. For example, Bergsons term duration refers to a more individual, subjective experience of time, as opposed to mathematical, objectively measurable clock time. In Creative Evolution, Bergson suggests that the experience of time as duration can best be understood through creative intuition, not through intellect. Harvard philosopher William James intended to write the introduction to the English translation of the book, but died in 1910 prior to its completion. This item ships from La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
