Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Some Factors Affecting Cattle Use of Northern Arizona Pine-Bunchgrass Ranges Taken collectively, the bunchgrass ranges of northern Arizona are characterized by extremely uneven forage utilization when grazed by cattle. Much of this is caused by the scarcity of livestock watering places, since range water is extremely difficult to develop on the porous volcanic soils characteristic of the plateau country. Several other factors also affect the natural movement and grazing tendencies of cattle on pine bunchgrass range. It is the purpose of this report to discuss the effect of water and these other factors upon the grazing use of the important forage Species occurring in the pine-bunchgrass type. The information is based upon data collected during 1940 and 1941 on three typical grazing allotments designated as A, B, and C and located on the Coconino and Kaibab National Forests near Flagstaff, Ariz.
