Springer. Paperback. Condition: New. 269 pages. Dimensions: 9.3in. x 6.1in. x 0.6in. The Reasoning Web summer school series is a well-established event, attracting experts from academia and industry as well as PhD students interested in foundational and applicational aspects of the Semantic Web. This volume contains the lecture notes of the fourth summer school, which took place in Venice, Italy, in September 2008. This year, the school focussed on a number of important application domains, in which semantic web techniques have proved to be particularly effective or promising in tackling problems. The first three chapters provide introductory material to: languages, formalisms, and standards adopted to encode semantic information; soft extensions that might be useful in contexts such as multimedia or social network applications; controlled natural language techniques to bring ontology authoring closer to end users. The remaining chapters cover major application areas such as social networks, semantic multimedia indexing and retrieval, bioinformatics, and semantic web services.

The presentation highlighted which techniques are already being successfully applied for purposes such as improving the performance of information retrieval algorithms, enabling the interoperation of heterogeneous agents, modelling user profiles and social relations, and standardizing and improving the accuracy of very large and dynamic scientific databases. Furthermore, the lectures pointed out which aspects are still waiting for a solution, and the possible role that semantic techniques may play, especially those reasoning methods that have not yet been exploited to their full potential. We hope that the...
