Excerpt from Annual Report Summary: National Institute of Dental and Craniofacial Research The Division of Intramural Research experienced a very productive year, and a year of rapid and profound organizational change. Several months of planning, involving all levels of the organization, culminated in the reorganization and fusion of the Division of Epidemiology and Oral Disease Prevention and the Division of Intramural Research effective November 15, 1996. In addition to the fusion of the two divisions the reorganization brought a number of highly significant changes. The eleven former Laboratories and Branches were reorganized into seven Branches reaffirm the commitment of the Division and the Institute to the seamless transition from basic, through translational to clinical research in each of the programs.
