Dodge, Chief Engineer: 1874 This charter also provides for the construction of a railroad from Fort Yuma to San Francisco, not limiting us from taking the most economical advantages of the topography of the county, in leaving our main line. It requires that 100 miles each year shall be completed from its eastern terminus, and 10 miles from its western terminus by May, 1874, and after that 25 miles per year from its western terminus until the two lines meet. The rate at which the line is to be built from its eastern end is materially modified by its charter in Texas, which is more fully explained in a subsequent part of this report. As far as possible we consider the question connected with the construction of the road as follows: 1st. Location of Lines. 2d. Connections. 3d. Water Supply. 4th. Timber. 5th. Fuel. 6th. Ballast. 7th. Building Stone. 8th. Agricultural Resources. 9th. Mineral Resources. 10th. Land and Town Lots. 11th. Earnings. 12th. Commercial and Military Value. You will also find, in a condensed form, estimates of cost of construction and equipments; table of grades, summits and distances, and comparison with other trans-continental lines. Annexed will be found reports of Engineers in charge of the different divisions, with copies of the instructions under which they acted. Divisions. For Surveys and Construction. The whole line was divided into 5 divisions. 1. Construction East of Fort Worth. In charge of Captain R. S. Hayes.
