CECIL MYER, Saugerties, N. Y. In my opinion the most important part of poultry raising is caring for the little chicks. No food should be given them during the first twentyfour hours after being hatched, as it interferes with the digestion of the yolk which is absorbed immediately before being hatched. Young chicks should never be fed on raw dough, as it is apt to sour on their stomachs and cause many of the complaints to which they are liable. Corn meal alone is not the proper feed for little chicks, as it contains...
