Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Trees, Fruits, and Flowers of Minnesota, 1912, Vol. 40: Embracing the Transactions of the Minnesota State Horticultural Society From December 1, 1911, to December 1, 1912, Including the Twelve Numbers of the Minnesota Horticulturist For 1912 If the subject of flowers was not an interesting one, as it came up, why, there was recourse to the fruit room, and things to be seen and done there, but as a rule the hall was comfortably filled at all times during the meeting. The climax of the meeting was probably on Thursday, there being an especially large attendance at the session devoted to top-working, which subject, more than any other, seemed of special interest to our members. The bee-keepers met in an adjoining room on Thursday and Friday, but their presence there seemed to have no appreciable effect on the attendance in the main room. It is very unusual to have many numbers on the program of our annual meeting absent, but this was unfortunately the case this year, sickness and unexpected circumstances having detained away from the meeting perhaps a dozen who were on the program and fully purposed to be there. There was so much interest in the subjects presented and so much new matter coming up continually that there was not a moment's time lost, however, and, indeed, if the full program had been presented it would appear that some things must have been neglected that needed attention.
