Excerpt from Cambridge Fifty Years a City, 1846-1896: An Account of the Celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Incorporation of the City of Cambridge, Massachusetts, June 2-3, 1896 The fiftieth anniversary of the incorporation of the city was celebrated by the citizens of Cambridge with appropriate public exercises, which extended over two days. From the time the celebration was first suggested, in the month of March, 1895, till the last rocket had faded away in the heavens, on the night of June 3, 1896, there was but one dominating thought. Its influence was potent during the long months of preparation. Its power inspired the pulpit of the city. It was the pervasive and controlling force in every feature of the two days observance and its impress is a priceless memory in the hearts of all, both young and old, who participated in the celebration. Not a word was spoken, not a note sung, not a single act performed, that did not express some phase of this one dominating thought: the glory and greatness of Cambridge.
