Createspace, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Sixth grade is your year! It's time to put good use to all those years of show-and-tell, playing in the sandbox, and tasting crayons. You already know what to do, now get a little inside teacher information from the guy who calls a dead shark hanging on the wall the class pet. This realistic, family book answers common sixth-grade questions and describes how teachers operate their classrooms. It explains why things happen and how teachers think. Most of all, it is designed to improve self-reliance and promote your future success. Writing - Impress your teacher the first day of school with the perfect paragraph. Use a topic sentence. At least six words per sentence. At least six sentences per paragraph. No crime, violence, gore, or fluff (i.e. The End or I hoped you liked my essay.) Why can't we do more fun stuff? That's the same question teachers ask each day! Here is the main reason, as you read about ancient Egyptians, wondering if they ever had water fights building those pyramids in the hot sun. Teachers spread-out fun things over time. How boring would it be to go to Disneyland every day and ride the same rides? Totally awesome! (Okay, bad example.) But you get the idea. With every fun activity, students want something better next time. Soon it becomes more about the activity and less about the content. Why do teachers always put me next to the bad kids? Let's start with the definition of bad kids. I'm not sure any student can be labeled as bad. Your classmates work on different levels. Some watched Sesame Street when they were...
