of the United States Relative to Slavery Under the Laws of War: No Military Power to Return Any Slave In the present case, it would also be the property of traitors, waging an unprovoked and unprincipled war against their unoffending and too patient fellow-citizens, against their oaths of allegiance, and against the Constitution and laws they have concurred in establishing. There is but one other party who can convey any thing to these enemies, and that is a citizen of our own. By the laws of war, all traffic, contract, intercourse or correspondence between the enemies of a country and its citizens or subjects, is strictly forbidden. Hence all property of theirs, destined or in process to be transferred to the enemy, or property of the enemy destined to be transferred to our own citizens, is liable to capture and confiscation, not as contraband of war, but as enemy s property. Such presumptuous and sordid citizens, besides suffering such forfeiture, remain amenable to the laws of their country for treason or misdemeanor,...
