Excerpt: . . . accuracy, and support for labor and materials charged to work orders. We reviewed the award fees that KSL has earned since April 2003 and determined that KSL has never earned the entire available award fee. However, it was unclear what direct impact KSL's performance issues in the areas of estimating and work order charges have had on the award fee determinations. For example, for the evaluation period of October 1, 2005, through March 31, 2006, KSL received 2, 815, 886 out of an available pool of 3, 027, 834. The following scores and comments were recorded, but the direct impact on the award fee was not specified: Corrective Maintenance was required to be completed within 20 percent of the estimate. While LANL scored KSL at 85. 6 percent for this element, it was noted in the evaluation that KSL has requested that a significant number of work orders be exempt from this...
