Excerpt from The Guidon, Vol. 2: November, 1905 Shone on her face and encircled her form, when, after confession, Homeward serenely she walked with God's benediction upon her. When she had passed, it seemed like the ceasing of exquisite music. The day of betrothal is at hand - the marriage contract is to be signed to-night. As the coming darkness fills the warm fire-lit-room with uncouth shadows, the gentle Evangeline sits by the Spinning-wheel near the glowing fire while her old father placidly nods in his comfortable arm-chair. With a uttering heart, she hears her lover, his father, and the village notary enter. The marriage contract is signed, the last toast is drunk to the full bride, and the guests depart.
