Illustrating a series of nursery rhymes in flat-color drawings of friendly animals, Phyllis Limbacher Tildes creates a common thread through the courtship of a tabby cat and a pretty gray poodle, inspired by the lyric "Hoddley, poddley, puddles and frogs, / Cats are to marry poodle dogs; / Cats in blue jackets and dogs in red hats, / What will become of the mice and the rats?" Many of the rhymes will be new to American prereaders, as the dog and cat are engaged and finally married.
