Lines within the Circle

By Jean Bonnin

Red Egg Publishing, United Kingdom, 2012. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 226 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .This, Jean Bonnin's second novel, is a wonderfully written piece about an intriguing roadtrip. From Oxford in the UK, through France and Spain, to Portugal - and later ending up in Berlin and the former East Germany Interesting people are discussed and met along the way: from Salvador Dali, to a self-assured Icelandic hitchhiker. In one respect this is the story about a man on a strange journey who is thinking about the life he's led, in another respect it's about something much bigger. It's about the loss of idealism, and the loss of ideology. And, here is the blurb from the book cover: If this isn't a book, possibly it's a film - if it isn't a film then possibly it's my life. Characters come and go, bizarre situations intermingle, as themes repeat and coalesce. And all the while the protagonist is attempting to distinguish memory from reality. In a roadtrip that takes him from Oxford to Portugal, via Spain and the Salvador Dali museum, he considers...

Reviews

The book is not difficult to read through better to recognize. It really is written in straightforward terms instead of confusing. I am happy to inform you that this is actually the finest publication I actually have read in my individual daily life and may be the best book for possibly.
