Forgotten Books, 2018. Hardback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Index, 87, Vol. 17 We welcome the class of 89 to Aggie, though they do not number as many as we would have desired, and hope that every member will remain through the course and be ever a faithful worker in the interests of M. A. C. Not wishing to condemn President Greenough and his manner of presiding over the affairs of the College; we feel, at the same. Time that there is some ground for criticism. It is a difficult task to secure a person capable of giving perfect satisfaction to all in such a position as president of an agricultural college. President Greenough has had much to contend with, has done a great deal for the college, and we believe he has the good of the institution at heart. He needs the earnest cooperation and hearty support of the students in order to advance the standing of the College and secure its best growth and development. We trust that ere long all prejudices and ill-feelings will be cast aside and students and faculty blend together in perfect harmony. Many criticisms have been cast by friends who are interested in the College, as well as by its enemies, upon the manner in which the College Farm has been managed of late years, and it is true that this Farm is not what it should be, and does not illustrate the principles of scientific agriculture, or gladden the eye by its bountiful harvests. A change in the condition of the Farm is of vital importance and we urge, among other things, that a system of field instruction be instituted, as we believe that the study of agriculture without...
