Excerpt: .and wisdom of the bench and bar have been so determined that the light which they have shed upon this important subject from year to year has crystalized this beneficent law into a practically accepted doctrine by every nation of the world. The pathway of freedom has been blazed, and it has been the lawyer who has thus constantly throughout the centuries sat on the whirlwind and directed the storm. Studying the share which the members of our profession have had in laying the foundations of nations, and building thereon, they would not be entitled to so large a measure of credit if their pathway had been one of continual triumph with0ut obstacles in the way. It is because they have forged the chain of empire in the face of almost insuperable obstacles that we hail them as the greatest of conquerors. We never...
