Spuyten Duyvil. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 106 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.3in. How refreshing to come across a book like Katherine Hastings marvelous Cloud Fire, rich and verdant in formal experiment and range. Mixing lyrics, narratives, curses, blessings, spells, and unabashed love poems, the work is hard-won and honest, generous and rigorous. In poem after poem Katherine Hastings casts her ever-vigilant, observing eye, sharp as it is poignant. Her deepest concern seems our perilous locale and planet: My city whose streams are rock doves and parrots whose bright arm is a spring board for love and suicides and yet we breathe here better than anywhere, distressed. Gillian Conoley Lovely. . . its your veiled history. Lawrence Ferlinghetti For Katherine Hastings, The mirror is a lake of longing. Her poems are told us by a woman with a moon in her chest; their surprising images embrace close observation, deeply dramatized love and losses, and have the power of crossing boundaries of spirit to reveal truths otherwise unseen. Daniel Hoffman, U. S. Poet Laureate, 1973-74 Katherine Hastings is a poet whose words embody light; she is the ambassador of luminescence to American poetry today. It is no wonder that clouds catch on fire in this magnificent and transformative collection. In poems like Whittenberg, where an atmosphere of light invades and reshapes, Pushing off from the Wall, where white cells of water, jewel-lined undulate amoeba-shapes, and Twister clear blue prophecy is proclaimed. In Bird. Song. Knife. Heart (No one saw her glide among the lake or river radiance wrapped in flame), and Mother (Light transfers from the formless matters across the given world), and so many others, Hastings truly succeeds in evoking a continent of light on radiant pages . . . There is no voice like hers! I wholeheartedly recommend Cloud Fire, poems...
