Each large sick ward, whether it contains ten or thirty patients, must have attached to it at least two w.c. s and a slop sink, separated by cross ventilated lobbies. A bath room should also adjoin each large ward. It is therefore clear that the fewer the patients in each ward the larger will be the total number of nurses required in the establishment, and the greater will be the multiplicity of nurses rooms, water-closets, slop sinks, bath rooms, and other sanitary offices. Suppose a hospital, to be designed for the reception of 576 patients, 540 of whom are to be placed in eighteen parallelogram-shaped wards containing thirty each, and the remaining thirty-six in smaller and adjoining separation wards. If the buildings are three stories in height there would be six pavilions, but if, as I shall show, twenty-two patients only can be placed in the large wards because they are of circular shape, then eight pavilions would be required instead of six, and twenty-four wards instead of eighteen. In both cases these wards and pavilions are assumed to be of the same size. It has been shown that the services of one head and one night nurse must be provided for each large ward, and it therefore follows that the adoption of this circular plan would involve the additional cost of twelve nurses for the six extra wards....
