In the gathering of the material, the great sacrifice made by many of our churches and ministers has been revealed. I have read these accounts, laid the letters down, later read them again, then thanked God for such noble men and women. A quotation from one letter will reveal the real facts in many others: I am very sorry to have to send you such a poor report of our conference; but really our people are so scattered and so poor, and I have preached so long for almost nothing, and am so far behind financially, that I now have...
