The same time, with the development of computer graphics technology and computer special effects technology matures, the animated film showing the creative process different from the general film and television production, and production processes. Adobe Creative University dynamic mirror clips standard textbook traditional clip animation which on the one hand, but also focus on the analysis and explain its characteristics for the animated film, written by Zhang Wei, Yu Hao place. Not the same in terms of animation, clips and traditional clip. Animation clips must clip the front, that editors must be a good sub Optician 3D Animation different from traditional photography, want to spend a lot of time in pre-production, unlike traditional shooting as many seats, there is a lot of material can easily clip. So start editor in the storyboard stage grasp, and finally fine cut again. Adobe Creative University dynamic sub-mirror clip standard textbook The purpose is to develop parallel to the director, to work together with director anime sub-lens designers editors together to create complete, this talent cultivation can reduce a lot of animation the useless return function and shorten the production process. Draw experience and teaching experience through our case-based education, with many years of...
