Brand New Book  Print on Demand .In the 1970 s the United States and the Soviet Union were locked in the throes of a fierce Cold War. Deep-rooted ideological, economic, and political differences made the countries suspicious of each other. Each country pushed hard for even the slightest advantage that could tip the scales of nuclear war in its favor. The USA discovered the Soviets were using psychic spies. Tests proved children have more psychic ability than adults. To respond to this Soviet threat, the CIA had McDonalds restaurant conduct a contest to test for psychic ability. Out of over thirty million children, six teens scored significantly higher than the rest and were recruited as psychic spies. These young teens were thrust into the seedy, dangerous and devious world of espionage. This is the story of the teens struggle to gain the respect and appreciation of the adults and prove they could be an effective intelligence unit. Each has different psychic talents, but together they have a synergy of psychic abilities that make the team the top intelligence source in the USA. Sixteen year...
