Memoirs Of 2165, 2165. Paperback. Condition: New. 262 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.7in. It is TIME to EDUCATE and ADVOCATE for CHANGE. Memoirs Of An Addict: Fact or Fiction, is a compelling combined book and workbook based on the characters MaryPumpkin, who is one person, with two different personalities who suffers with a dual diagnosis co-occurring disorders of depression and addiction and she happens to be suicidal. Yet that is not her story. You will be enlighten with their empowering journey of HOPE and Survival living life on lifes terms and the personal experiences they achieved before their awakening to accepting the purpose that there is help out there, and most importantly gaining knowledge that recovery is a process. Not only will you gain insight from MaryPumpkins memoirs, you will be educated with the self-paced educational workbook that can be used for personal and or group discussions. This portion of the book contains Facts to Discover and Points to Ponder that includes; writing exercises, fill-in-the-blanks; open ended questions and information that can to be used for personal and critical thinking. The beauty of this workbook there is no timeframe or order as to when it is completed. MaryPumpkins memoirs have not been written to save or change the world, the purpose is to enlighten and possibly give clarity to societys perception, and misunderstanding that addiction is more than illegal drugs and alcohol. Addictions come in many forms and patterns such as gambling, sex, cigarettes, cell phones, food, video games, prescription drugs, coffee, soda, the internet and the list goes on and on. For those who have been blessed and are what the world calls normal, Memoirs Of An Addict: Fact or Fiction addresses the questions such as; Can an addict ever be free or Can a person with mental...
