Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Mathematical Monographs, No. 21: The Dynamics of the Airplane IT was the good fortune of the author to attend the University of Paris during the spring semester of 1919. One of the special courses which the French authorities, with their characteristic hospitality, arranged for the large number of students from the American army, was a course in aerodynamics, given by Professor Marchis. The comprehensive knowledge that Professor Marchis possessed of all branches of the new science of aeronautics, the inestimable value of his advice to the French Republic during the war, the interest he took in his rather unusual class, could not fail to be an inspiration. This book is an outgrowth of those parts of Professor Marchis lectures that were of particular interest to the author. It is in no sense a complete treatise on aviation. Questions of design and construction are passed over with bare mention. The book is intended for students of mathematics and physics who are attracted by the dynamical aspect of aviation. The problems presented by the motion of an airplane are novel and fascinating. They vary from the most pleasing simplicity to the most stimulating difficulty. The question of stability, particularly, exhibits at the same time the elegance and the power of analysis, and shows the adaptability of some of the general developments in dynamics. The field is assuredly a fruitful one of study, and increasing demands will be put upon the mathematician as the science of aviation continues its rapid development. The mathematician can well own a sense of pride that he had already at hand, in the developments inaugurated by Euler and Routh, a means of dealing accurately with the question...
