IRISH LAND ACT COMMISSION (CLASSIC REPRINT) (HARDBACK)

Forgotten Books, 2018. Hardback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Irish Land Act Commission It is estimated that there are about tenants occupying land in Ireland - that is to say, families - and setting down an average of five individuals for each family, this would give us at once persons, or about half the population, directly connected with the land, as occupiers of the soil; and if to these we add all the outside relatives of these families and all persons dependent on them, such as the small country traders and dealers, it will at once appear that the strength of this class is irresistible; that their views and opinions must be the views and opinions of the country; and that no matter what the law may lay down, no matter what rights it may give against them, such rights, if not acquiesced in by them, can never be universally enforced without giving rise to a revolution. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more at This book is a reproduction of an important historical work.
