Army Doctrine Publication (ADP) 2-0 provides a common construct for intelligence. This publication describes the key aspects of intelligence support to unified land operations and establishes the doctrinal foundation for Army intelligence. (See figure 1.) It also serves as a reference for intelligence - Personnel who are developing doctrine. - Leader development. - Materiel and force structure. - Institutional and unit training for intelligence. The fundamentals of intelligence have migrated to two new publications ADP 2-0 and Army Doctrine Reference Publication (ADRP) 2-0, Intelligence. The doctrinal constructs introduced in this publication are further explained in ADRP 2-0. For the purposes of this publication, the terms threats and range of threats include enemies and adversaries. The term hazards refers to conditions or natural phenomena able to damage or destroy life, vital resources, and institutions, or prevent mission accomplishment. The principal audience for ADP 2-0 is all members of the profession of arms. Commanders and staffs of Army headquarters serving as joint task force or multinational headquarters should also refer to applicable joint or multinational doctrine concerning the range of...
