Column in the above table it may be seen that the windows admit several times the amount of sound admitted by all of the wall and ceiling structures and that the door admits more noise than either the walls or ceiling. Suppose one window were opened so there was 1 square foot of Open window. The transmission loss through an Opening like this is zero, hence $7 = 1$ and $ta = 1$. In other words, an Opening of 1 square foot would transmit four times the sound energy that is transmitted by the entire structure with closed windows. The noise reduction factor with the opartly opened windows is diminished to 26. 8 decibels. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
