

New Public Education Model: Learning Without Labels (Paperback)

By Phillip Owen

Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .I will present research data, my own opinions and other voices calling for a new model for public education. I hope this book will help you understand strengths and limitations of the present AS-IS model for public education. I have used on a combination of unschooled learning and recent study of research to understand why things are the way they are. This book recalls experience gained during my early childhood as an unschooled learner; and later in my life reading, listening and doing. I hope this book will inspire you to help create a new model for public education, a model with a vision that will enable all children to achieve their full potential. Public education is too often blamed for a multitude of social and economic problems in our society. Educators (teachers especially) are blamed for failing to prepare students for college or work. In reality, too many children enter public schools unprepared for disciplined learning and limitation imposed by the AS-IS model for public education. Children enter public schools with a mind filled with unschooled learning constructed (some believe starting...
