IMPERIAL WELDING AND CUTTING HAND BOOK: OXY-ACETYLENE, OXY-HYDROGEN, CARBON BURNING (CLASSIC REPRINT) (PAPERBACK)DOWNLOAD

Forgotten Books, United States, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Imperial Welding and Cutting Hand Book: Oxy-Acetylene, Oxy-Hydrogen, Carbon Burning Welding with the oxy-acetylene flame is a fusing process. With a temperature of over F., concentrated in a comparatively small point, the flame is held on the edges to be united until they melt together. Since by this process, no hammering or compression is necessary, it is applicable to all the metals: cast iron, malleable iron, steel, aluminum, bronze and copper. Oxygen is purchased in conveniently handled cylinders or drums which are charged to a pressure of approximately pounds. Purity is essential to the successful and economical operation of the oxy-acetylene process and the oxygen purchased in these high pressure drums is considerably cheaper and much purer than that made by chemicals on the premises. The proper manufacture and testing of both the oxygen and acetylene cylinders is supervised by an U. S. Government commission and if ordinary precautions are employed by the user, the tank system of gases is ideal.
