Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2014. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Flying high, living large, crashing and burning only to do it again! I endured two full cycles and had to roll my jeep off of an I95 bridge onto an I295 highway 40 feet below before my battle with success and alcohol was begun to be understood. As the costs and societal impacts of alcoholism and drug addiction mount alongside an ever growing pressure to succeed, society can benefit greatly from exposure to main stream stories of recovery. Unfortunately most believe alcoholism is a story derived from gutter drunks and the homeless. They simply do not see it as a main stream issue. My book provides a fresh perspective. It is about living with the disease of alcoholism and a lifelong struggle with success. I only came to believe it a disease during my recovery after writing my book, The hide in the shadows mantra of the recovery community has dominated recovery since the late 60 s. Meanwhile the belief that alcoholics and drug addicts are gutter drunks, misguided teens or alley way dwelling addicts has purveyed our society s front line beliefs on addiction. This fallacy must be ended. Addiction exists in the lives of all walks of life. My story is a living example of that cold, hard fact. I believe it will take people from our business and academic ranks who are willing to come into the light in order to create change as I am doing with my story. We must alter the perception of who and what alcoholics and drug addicts are if we hope to turn the tide on the problem. This can be done without breaking the traditions of recovery programs built...
