University Press of Kentucky. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 184 pages. Dimensions: 8.9in. x 6.0in. x 0.5in. Keith Payne begins by asking, Did we really learn how to deter predictably and reliably during the Cold War? He answers cautiously in the negative, pointing out that we know only that our policies toward the Soviet Union did not fail. What we can be more certain of, in Paynes view, is that such policies will almost assuredly fail in the Second Nuclear Age -- a period in which direct nuclear threat between superpowers has been replaced by threats posed by regional rogue powers newly armed with chemical, biological, or nuclear weapons. The fundamental problem with deterrence theory is that it posits a rational -- hence predictable -- opponent. History frequently demonstrates the opposite. Payne argues that as the one remaining superpower, the United States needs to be more flexible in its approach to regional powers. This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg, OR, La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
