Other key legislation requires DOD to report on the departments strategies for balancing the allocation of funds and other resources among major defense acquisition programs, and to identify strategies for enhancing the role of program managers in carrying out acquisition programs. DOD has also initiated actions aimed at improving investment decisions Recent DOD Actions and weapon system acquisition outcomes, based in part on congressional Provide Opportunities for direction and GAO recommendations. Each of the initiatives is designed to Improvement enable more informed decisions by key department leaders well ahead of a programs start, decisions that provide a closer match between each programs requirements and the departments resources. For example: DOD is experimenting with a new concept decision review, different acquisition approaches according to expected fielding times, and panels to review weapon system configuration changes that could adversely affect program cost and schedule. DOD is also testing portfolio management approaches in selected capability areas to...
