FOREIGN CROPS AND MARKETS, VOL. 63: DECEMBER 10, 1951 (CLASSIC REPRINT) (PAPERBACK)DOWNLOAD

FBC LTD, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Foreign Crops and Markets, Vol. 63: December 10, 1951 The weather in China reportedly was not so favorable for rice production as in 1950; thus the crop showed a substantial reduction from the good harvest of last year. India s planted acreage reportedly declined slightly. Prospects there at the outset of the season were for a crop considerably above last year s unusually low yield, but lack of rain in important producing areas again is causing some deterioration in rice output. Recent rains reportedly have broken the drought in South India, and further rains in the remainder of 1951 could result in a better harvest than in the last four bad years in the largest rice-crop area of India. At present, it appears the total crop will be larger than last year s reduced outturn though below the level of other recent years.
