Co-operation of Authors and Publishers After an address before the Public Education Association of Philadelphia, the suggestion was made that there should be established in that city a censorship of children s books. In the light of the above statement, surely there is sufficient reason for such action. As a contribution to this end, our movement has established such friendly relations with reputable publishers and authors that we are able to offer advice when it will count most, that is, before the book is printed. During the past year, innumerable conferences have been had both with authors and publishers as regards books yet to be written or published. Only recently I learned of a series of stories for boys on the present European War that were to be...
