Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Original Papers by the Late John Hopkinson, D.Sc., F. R. S, Vol. 1: Technical Papers It is inevitable that in the first few years of childhood the mother's influence should be the more potent; and this was doubtless the case with John Hopkinson, though less so than usual: Mr Hopkinson, more than most fathers, made companions of his children, and John, the eldest, was constantly with him from a very early age. He was a teacher of exceptional ability, and during the long rambles in the Lake District and Wales and the visits to the Works when he accompanied his father, John must have learnt something of his powers of observation and have acquired some of his bent towards engineering and scientific pursuits. A singularly complete education rather effaced the surface effects of these early years, and it is perhaps difficult to find indications of their importance for those who have only known John Hopkinson as a man and have never known his parents. Others more fortunate, who have seen Mr Hopkinson with children even in his old age, will be able to form some idea of his relations with John at a time when the father was full of youthful vigour and the son a bright and healthy boy, eager for information on all going on around him. Though the first-born was naturally the most favoured one, all the family shared in the advantage of having such a father. Of the five sons, three, including John, became engineers of distinction. A fourth, Albert, is a doctor of medicine in large practice in Manchester. Alfred, who was second in order of age, became Principal of Owens College in...
