MENTOR DEVELOPMENT FOR TEACHER TRAINING: A SCENARIO-BASED APPROACH (PAPERBACK)

University of Hertfordshire Press, United Kingdom, 2007. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. This is a dynamic resource for the development of teachers as mentors. It presents 34 scenarios based on real-life teacher-trainee issues. It is designed to stimulate an analytical and problem-solving approach to challenging situations. It is linked to the Mentor Levels of the Training and Development Agency, the General Teaching Council Core Dimensions, and the Qualified Teacher Status Standards. In their lectures and seminars, trainee teachers are crammed with theories, concepts and applications, but the make-or-break experience is in school, where trainees really discover how to teach and what their strengths and weaknesses are. A mentor is the critical friend who makes that journey with the trainee and who adjusts targets and expectations to suit the individual trainee. This book aims to help mentors support trainees more effectively. It also allows mentors to demonstrate and to develop further the skills and expertise they draw on to support trainees. The scenarios are grouped into three sections, each progressively less scaffolded so that more experienced mentors can work on them more autonomously.
