They are settled by common thinking and universal acceptance; by legislative sanction and judicial determination. They are looked upon as the necessary basis of our political system; as the essential support, guardian and guide of a democratic form of government. Some matters settled It is settled first or all, for example, that our schools are to be free. They are to be supported at the common cost. All property is to contribute its share. They are to be open to all. There is to be nothing about them to which any may justly object on conscientious grounds. They are to be managed and their particular character and accommodations determined and provided by the people in primary assemblages or by officers chosen by the people. It is accepted that they are subject to the legislative power in each state because they are supported by taxation and the...
