Tropicalia: Poems and Translations

By Mookie Katigbak-Lacuesta, Frances Cannon

Vagabond Press, Australia, 2016. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 210 x 148 mm. Language: N/A. Brand New Book  Print on Demand .In Tropicalia, two writers, one Filipino and one American, set off on an unusual collaborative effort entailing the translation of one English to another English, allowing two different sensibilities to happen to the same language, the same content, and ultimately the same poem. Using Katigbak-Lacuesta's existing text, Cannon approached the concept of translation as a creative act, more than as a transcriptive one. She responded to the text in a series of poems, which were then re-translated into paintings. Mookie Katigbak-Lacuesta is the author of two poetry collections: The Proxy Eros (2008) and Burning Houses (2013). She obtained an MFA from the New School University in 2002, and has since taught in major universities in Manila, fronted a rock band, written feature articles, a libretto, and short fiction. She is the editor of Metro Serye, a fold-out zine featuring new poetry, fiction and graphic art in the Philippines. She also co-edited Fast Food Fiction Delivery: short short stories to go, an anthology of flash fiction, in 2014. Widely awarded, she was the Filipino delegate to the...
