Curates of Smaller A List of the Rectors of Morley with Smalley is given in Dr. Cox s Churches of Derbyshire, but very seldom do we find any published list of Curates, owing, no doubt, to the defective forms of the earlier registers, which do not require the signatures of the officiating clergy. In that most selfish period of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, the Curate, unless possessed of private means, was the personification of poverty; and often, whilst performing the lion s share of the duty, was compelled to take a very subordinate position and stipend. At that time, too, the emoluments of Vicars were usually so small that some of them gladly made their way over miles of filthy roads, between hurried services, to eke out their miserable pittances! Sad times for the shepherds and sad for the sheep. With no lack of ability, most of them had but little time for study, or the composition of sermons, the struggle for life absorbing their chiefest energies. The Rev. Thomas Ward, Vicar of Horsley, and once Curate of Smalley, has left behind him some interesting memoranda. The writer has before him one of his funeral sermons, originally written in 1719, and last used by him at Horsley in 1762. On the covers are memoranda of its use. It was delivered in Horsley Church twenty-one times between 1719 and 1755, and several times at Turnditch, Belper, Heage, Smalley, Duffield, and Gimpingham, besides: at...
