OrangesAndLime, Australia, 2008. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Everything we do is based on what we believe. Our religious beliefs influence where we stand on many important issues like sexuality, abortion, ethics and terrorism, amongst many others. In a democracy, we vote for leaders to whom we abrogate responsibility to make decisions that affect us all. Since all votes are equal, the value of a well thought-out vote is the same as that of a careless one. We owe it to ourselves, to each other and to our children to be well-informed so we can start making more educated decisions today. If a religion is a true religion, it would place kindness, compassion and understanding at the top of its priorities. Why, then, do so many religious people hate, or discriminate against, people that are not like them? If religion stood for peace and harmony, why is there so much killing done in its name? There are far too many contradictions. In seeking to understand the meaning of life, morality and what it means to be human, this book starts with the Big Bang and tells the story of how we evolved and how we have come to oppress ourselves with the tyranny of our own beliefs.
