He has given us all the necessary tools with which to work out our own salvation. He has pointed out to us, as plainly as a country guide-board with a big fist and stiff finger, exactly the right road in which we should travel; and if we don t trot therein, the fault and blame are entirely our own. He has also created a Devil, (this no believer will pretend to deny,) for no other purpose, as far as I can see, than to go shares with him in the great undertaking of a universal creation. It appears that in this, homo vegetato world--according to stipulation--the Devil is entitled to all the human smutty heads of wheat, half or wholly rotten apples, and all the specked potatoes that he can dig from this sublunary soil. Then, of course, Mr. Devil uses his utmost exertions to blast as many as he can. When he prematurely blights the bud of virtue and innocence, induces youth to wander hellward, and persuades the old man to let go his hold upon heaven, it is all fair play on his part: but, my friends, don t allow yourselves to be deceived by any of his artful tricks. Go straight forward in the path prescribed by duty, honor and religion; and, with a strong conscience to back you, you will be enabled to take all hell by the horns and come off victorious. My dear hearers: just...
